ABOUT US

VOCES elevates the leadership and commitment of Latino business, public health, academic, and community leaders and organizational partners who actively support sound environmental policies. Latinos are committed to protecting the environment and must play an integral role in creating the future we dream of for future generations.

MISSION

VOCES is a network of Latino leaders committed to climate action, expanding clean, renewable energy, and ensuring a healthy, sustainable, prosperous future for all.

Join now!

VOCES seeks diverse individuals, organizations, and companies committed to ensuring a sustainable, healthy future. There is never any cost or obligation to join.

VOCES

Latino Leadership in Action

Climate change is a matter of economic survival, human survival, and prosperity, and it's going to define whether or not we make it as a human race.
